Day or maybe night?

written by Przemek Wechterowicz
illustrated by Bogna Sroka-Mucha
52 pages | hardcover | 270 x 270
ISBN 9788374207607

A passionate and enlightening debate about the superiority of day over night or night over day. The participants in this debate are rather eccentric. Night is defended by a squid, a lantern, a mole, pinworms and death. A snail, a river, polar bears, the sun and a lion prefer the day. On which side will you be? Will you choose day? Or maybe night?

The arguments presented in this book are short, original and full of humour. They are accompanied by some wonderfully modern and expressive illustrations.

This book has two covers and two stories so a child can read it from both sides.

- An artistic and avantgarde book both in terms of content and illustrations
- Teaches children an understanding of abstraction and how to make choices
- Funny, educative and playful particularly when the reader is trying to guess the narrator
